

Municipal Governance Training for Council and Staff

(AMCTO encourages Municipal Management staff to attend this workshop with elected officials from their Municipalities)

The foundation of any successful municipality is when council and staff understand, support and work together in a comprehensive and professional way while leading the administration in implementing timely decisions, connecting with all stakeholders, and engaging its residents. And it is precisely here that one of the greatest areas of improvement within municipalities is seen: between Council and staff, within shared areas of work, within models of service delivery for both Council and staff.

This pioneering workshop will equip you with tools and techniques to dramatically increase the value of your municipal organization by fostering excellence in administration, identifying and addressing potential conflictual areas between staff and council unique to their roles and informing you on successful governance models employed by municipalities. This hands on workshop will help you develop a keen understanding on how and when to use these leadership tools to enhance your municipality.

This unique interactive session will touch upon systemic issues of governance, areas of specific conflict resolution and approaches to avoid repeating common problems of governance.

What You Will Learn

- Many different governance models, best practices of both the political and administrative staff roles and responsibilities of elected official, the senior management team and staff
- How best to establish and effectively maintain those roles
- Identification of shared responsibility and common elements causing conflict
- How to apply proven dispute resolution techniques to resolve issues and create a politically and operationally sound climate of mutual respect
- Identification of tools that enhance understanding to resolve conflicts: tools such as strategic planning, goals setting, organizational performance measurement, performance appraisals and codes of
